Come work as an Academic Emergency and Trauma Radiologist with Vancouver Coastal Health (VCH)!

Vancouver Coastal Health (VCH) is seeking a full-time academic Cardiothoracic Radiologist to join Vancouver Imaging, a dynamic group of 35 academic Radiologists providing general and subspecialty diagnostic along with interventional radiologic services to Vancouver General Hospital (VGH) and the University of British Columbia Hospital, in affiliation with the University of British Columbia (UBC). VGH is the quaternary care center for the Province of British Columbia for thoracic surgery and lung transplantation.

Our ER/TRAUMA section is one of the largest and most advanced academic Emergency Radiology groups in the world and operates a radiology staff led 24/7/365 Radiology service from our reading room, which is centrally located within Vancouver General Hospital Emergency Department (ED). Our department is fully digital with state-of-the-art equipment including dual-source/ dual-energy CT. The clinical service includes X-ray, Ultrasound, CT (head to toe including cardiac and Head and neck CTA) and MRI in the acute setting (i.e. acute abdomen, MRCP, MSK, Neuro). The clinical service includes covering and reporting studies for remote services across the province of BC.

As an Academic Emergency and Trauma Radiologist with Vancouver Coastal Health, you will:

Work with all members of our department and you will be expected to engage and collaborate in both the clinical and non-clinical activities of the section, including providing substantial contributions in research, education, and/or sectional administration. Teaching requirements include training a bright group of Residents and more than six Emergency Radiology Fellows annually. We value our excellent collaborations with Emergency Medicine, General Surgery, Trauma, Cardiology, Stroke and Critical care services along with our other radiology department subspecialty sections.
