

Making a difference – it's what you do. But what about what you need? We've got it all covered at Health New Zealand – Te Whatu Ora, where you can make a difference, somewhere different.

Why move to New Zealand as a Radiologist?

Join us as a Radiologist in Aotearoa New Zealand, where we invest in developing both our staff and technology, ensuring you're equipped to excel. Find nature at your fingertips, a team you can count on and a warm welcome.

You'll receive the standard entitlements given to workers in New Zealand:

- 10 days of sick leave per year
- 4 weeks of annual leave
- If eligible, a 6% matching employer superannuation contribution

Plus a robust relocation package to help you make the move

We're looking to fill multiple roles across New Zealand, with opportunities including:

- flexible working
- full-time
- part-time
- casual

Helping you make the move:

It's never been easier to start a new adventure – and we have a team to help you every step of the way.

Radiologists (Senior Medical Officers) are on Tier 1 of New Zealand's Green List which means you are eligible for the Straight to Residence Visa and can apply for New Zealand residency before you arrive, provided you have a job offer from us.

Our Candidate Support Team provides one-to-one personalised support throughout your journey to your new home in Aotearoa, New Zealand. This includes:

- help with visas and immigration
- matching you to an area of the country that best meets your preferences
- relocation and settlement support

Requirements to work In New Zealand:

To work in New Zealand as a Radiologist you will require:

- Registration with the Medical Council of New Zealand and to gain a current Annual Practising Certificate
- Solid experience in general imaging, preferably in a larger centre but this is not essential.
- All applicants must be able to meet the conditions of registration with the NZ Medical Radiation Technologists Board.

We can help get you started with this process so that you can become registered to practise in New Zealand.

Internationally qualified Diagnostic Radiologists and Interventional Radiologists are also encouraged to apply.

Who we are at Health New Zealand - Te Whatu Ora:

We are the Government organisation that provides publicly-funded universal health care in New Zealand. We manage all public health services including hospital and specialist services, and primary and community care.

'Te Whatu Ora' translates to 'the weaving of wellness'; which is what we are all about in our holistic and cross-disciplinary delivery of world-class healthcare to 5 million Kiwis across the country.

We recruit across 19 unique districts within the country, developing and implementing plans based on local needs to improve the health and well-being of our communities. We are dedicated to building a team that thrives on diversity and inclusion, welcoming individuals from all walks of life and backgrounds.

Come on over to Aotearoa, New Zealand and join us in paradise – apply now!