

RADIOLOGIST - Regional Locations, Australia

- AU$450,000 - $750,000 per year + 8 weeks annual leave
- Relocation and PR sponsorship available
- Support with College accreditation and exams

We would like to hear from UK or Canadian-trained radiologists who are interested in relocating to work in Australia.

Our client is one of the largest radiology providers in Australasia and we are sourcing comparably trained radiologists for them to work in regional Australia.

The workload is a mix of public and private outpatient services. The catchment areas have a population of 80 - 100,000 but service the specialist medical needs of around 300,000. The complexity of work is high for a regional area, which provides an interesting work environment.

The sites are fully digital and offer a full range of modalities. They are well-resourced centres with modern equipment, including 1.5T Siemens MRI, 64 slice Philips and Siemens CT.

There are several perks to this job, including a great work-life balance. Working hours are flexible and can be negotiated to suit your requirements. After hours is serviced by a tele radiology service. There is no regular on-call, weekend or out-of-hours work requirement, optimising the opportunity to enjoy the lifestyle that this region has to offer.
