Pacific Medical Imaging (PMI) is seeking a full time Radiologist. PMI is a dynamic, 22-member Radiology Practice that services a tertiary care hospital (Royal Columbian Hospital), a community hospital (Eagle Ridge Hospital) and a community imaging clinic (MedRay Imaging).

Royal Columbian Hospital is a busy site located in New Westminster and provides tertiary care services to the Fraser Health Authority in Neurosciences, Cardiovascular, Trauma, Obstetrics/Perinatology, and Interventional Radiology. Eagle Ridge Hospital is situated in the beautiful and rapidly growing suburb of Port Moody and provides community level hospital services to Port Moody, Port Coquitlam and Coquitlam. MedRay Imaging in Coquitlam (www.medrayimaging.com) is a modern, vibrant fully digital facility providing the whole range of community imaging services including MRI, and a BC Cancer Breast Screening Centre.

You will be engaged in diagnostic medical imaging services at all sites, which can include General Radiography, Fluoroscopy, Ultrasound, CT, Breast Imaging, MRI and Interventional Radiology. This position consists of approximately 50% IR. The IR practice encompasses the entire spectrum of IR procedures including arterial and venous interventions, cerebral angiography, acute endovascular stroke intervention, spine and body interventions, and Interventional Oncology including thermal ablation.

The successful candidate must fulfill the requirements of the Medical Staff Bylaws and Rules, maintain staff privileges, maintain medical licensure and malpractice insurance, and undertake a reasonable amount of continuing medical education. Recruitment will proceed as per the FHA Medical Staff Bylaws.
