

The leaders of academic radiology institutions across Canada, are committed to fostering an environment of equity, diversity, inclusion, and respect. The Canadian Heads of Academic Radiology unequivocally oppose racism, bigotry, and all forms of discrimination, recognizing that these injustices have historically marginalized and disadvantaged many individuals and communities.

The profession of medicine is grounded in respect for all people. This commitment recognizes that everyone has equal and inherent worth, the right to be valued and respected, and the right to be treated with dignity. Inappropriate behaviour will not be tolerated and when brought to our attention, we will act immediately to seek appropriate remedies following established policies and procedures at our respective institutions.

We work to create safe environments where inclusive practice is promoted. We support under-represented communities and provide avenues where faculty feel comfortable bringing forward grievances. Together, we can lead the way toward a more equitable and compassionate future.
